

Legislative change

reduced policing and sentencing for minor offenses reduced custodial sentencing – prisons move from punitive to rehabilitative model

Procedural reform increased transparency and monitoring of police more body cameras, bias training and use of force policies

Police functions

reduced community policing eg 'stop and frisk' reduced police interventions in mental health, schools, homelessness and drug use

Police accountability increased scrutiny and independent investigation of police violence police charged and sentenced for violence

Police funding

de-militarisation of equipment and training reduction of police workforce

Social investment increase in social spending and prevention programs increased spending on housing, health care, employment, mental health, DFV, child-care and restorative justice

Wholesale reform of justice system